MODEM DIAL UP NUMBERS

Below are telephone numbers to dial into Internet services at Penn State locations. Before using any of these numbers, please read the section "Internet Connections." Dial-up services and phone numbers are subject to change. The most current information is posted at <http://css.its.psu.edu/internet/dialup/> on the Web.

Please check the phone numbers carefully. The number of the campus near your location may not be a local call, so you will have to choose the least expensive number.

Note that because of continuous changes in the structures and rates of telephone service companies, dial-up numbers may change without warning from a local to a long-distance call. Penn State cannot be responsible for long-distance charges incurred by using dial-up numbers. Consumers are responsible for understanding the options and rates provided by telephone service companies. If you are concerned about charges for the use of dial-up numbers, contact your local telephone service representative. All numbers support a maximum speed of 56 Kbps (V.90) and 128 Kbps (ISDN).
